

Dear Parents/Carers,

Hooray, the annual celebration of books is here again!

This Thursday is World book day and there'll be lots of fun things taking place, including the 'Drop everything and read hooter', book tokens and quizzes and, everybody's favourite, the Masked reader returns! Will you be able to guess who is behind the disguise and what they are reading?

We begin the day with a special assembly, your first chance to check out the masked readers, as well as hearing the new World book day rap!
(Sneak preview here! https://youtu.be/u4LO\_Nnod-M how many books can you spot? )

Any budding rap stars out there? Fancy performing the world book day rap with your friends? If you'd like to learn all or part of the rap and would like to take part in the assembly, please let Ms McCarron know.

You can get the words for the song here -
