

Dear parents and carers,

E-Safety

As a school, we are very concerned about the negative content our children have the potential to access when using technology. We are hoping to assemble a group of e-safety ambassadors, consisting of parents, staff and governors, to discuss and champion e-safety in our community.

If you are interested in joining this group, please inform Mrs Jackson (via the school office) by Friday 21st April.

Please be aware of the following useful resources concerning e-safety.

Parent Zone provides useful products, resources and information on many apps, online games and websites. We strongly recommend it as a source of information for parents.

The National Crime Agency CEOP Education 'Thinkuknow' website provides fun online games for children aged 4-7 and 8-10. It also provides information for 11-18 year olds, as well as a wealth of information and help for adults.

Please note that the National Crime Agency CEOP button is now installed on the footer of each webpage on our school website. Clicking this will take you to a website where you can safely report online safety concerns to the Police. We have also provided this link below.

Additionally, you may wish to undertake some more formal e-safety training. As a school staff we will be completing this training by the NSPCC, in partnership with CEOP, in the Summer Term. The cost is £30 per person. If you are interested in undertaking this training, please contact Mrs Jackson. If there is enough interest we may be able to run a session in school for a slightly reduced cost.
